

The hiking camp by Sophia

Last weekend I was at a hiking camp.
There were a lot of people and six guides.
We stayed in the forest near Kematen.

On the first day we walked to the "Adolf-Pichler Alm" where we stayed for 1 night. My best friend Nele joined me and we he had a lot of fun.

I saw animals and plants and heard
unusual noises.

between hills,
mountains
and trees.

The next day we walked through
the big forest

We climbed up
the “Gamskogel”
and camped
there.

On the last day we went down into the valley.

I ran down with Nele,

but suddenly she
fell over a stone.

Nele fell down into the gorge and she started to cry.

A glowing orange branch spans across a dark, deep gorge. The branch is illuminated from within, giving it a bright, ethereal appearance. The gorge walls are dark and textured, with faint white contour lines visible. The overall scene is dramatic and mysterious.

Fortunately there was a branch
and she held on to it.

“I called the mountain rescue team and they rescued my friend. I was so shocked and hugged Nele.”

We saw the group and told them everything.

Luckily Nele was ok!
